Wye Magazine Announces New Editor, Staff Members

Brigham Young University's literary magazine, the "Wye," will be seen on the campus before the end of this quarter, according to Jon Beck Shank, editor.

Initial plans for the issue are already being made, following selection of staff members for the quarterly publication. Manuscripts for the edition are now being submitted to Prof. Thomas Cheney's office in the Smith building, and the traditional gold mail box will be placed in the Smith lobby for convenience of student writers.

Nyal A. Anderson has been chosen as assistant editor, with Annette Wood as non-fiction editor; Donnene Merrill, fiction editor; and Donald M. Decker, poetry editor.

Editorial assistants are Janet Mae Decker, Barbara Josie, Janice Thorne and Marilyn Young. Art directors include Carolyn Cox, George B. Clay, Jack Whittaker and Arthur A. Whyte.

Handling the business angles of the literary publication are Nadine Hyde and Jo Ann Jakle, while the publication assistants named are Joselyn Beckstead, La Rae Hansen and Richard Packham, and circulation assistants are Carolyn Wood and Boyd Hilton.

Three faculty members who will serve as advisers to the "Wye" are Prof. Thomas Cheney, editorial adviser; Roman Andrus, who will oversee art work; and Ray Wight, business adviser.

New Car Goes To Highest Benefit Bidder

"We've got a car we want to turn into cash," says Dr. A. Smith Pond, chairman of a special drive for Brigham Young University Field House funds.

The car is a 1950 Chevrolet Tudor sedan, donated by P. E. Ashton Co. toward the new BYU building. "But we can't make money on a new car," Dr. Pond says, so the car is up for sale.

If someone wants to get a new car and contribute to the Field House fund, here's a chance to do both, according to Dr. Pond. "Our object is to get as much as possible out of it," he says. Written offers should be sent to the Field House Finance Committee, Brigham Young University, before Nov. 18.

Talmage To Keynote Coming Journalism Conference

"Journalism, Democracy's Ally" will be the convention theme at the 16th annual Intermountain Journalism Conference at Brigham Young University, it was announced by Dr. Sterling B. Talmage, editor of the Deseret News. It is expected that he will point out the contribution of modern journalism in battling subversive movements with truth.

Dr. Talmage has been editor of the Deseret News since 1947, and he has been editor of a number of geological, mining and economics journals. He is the son of James E. Talmage, a prolific author.

Dr. Talmage's address will be given in the general assembly at the conference, which attracts some 500 high schools and junior college editors each year.

Other features at the conference include demonstrations of mimeograph, letterpress and offset printing, given by visiting experts in these fields. There will be exhibits in the Smith building of Utah newspapers and magazines, the newspapers process from raw news to newspaper, yearbooks of many colleges and high schools, school newspapers, old engravings, and art.

Benefit Football Ducat Sale Date Announced

Tickets for the BYU vs. Fort Hood football game, Saturday afternoon, November 25, will be on sale at the student body office Monday and Tuesday from 1-5 p.m., announced Al Choules, student body business manager.

The tickets are 50 cents each with a student body activity card, and all proceeds from the game go to the BYU Fieldhouse fund drive. All seats will be sold, according to Mr. Choules.

Levis, Cottons To Be Donned For 'Harvest Brawl'

The "Harvest Brawl," a student-body dance sponsored by the Blue and White Keys, will be held Friday, Nov. 17 in the Social Hall.

The harvest theme prevails, and levis and cottons, or almost anything else, are the style. An intermission show with several numbers is planned. It will begin at 9:00 p.m., and tickets are $.75 per couple.

Chairmen for the dance are Darcy Clawson and Bonnie Moessen, with the following committees: Decorations, Jim Hill, Bert Todd, Agnes Weibell, and Gloria Gwilliam; intermission, Norm Rossell, Russell Tuttle, Joanne Austin, and Charlotte Cannon; tickets, Tom Gunn, Mel Matey, Dorothy Groesbeck, and Geniel Thornton; publicity, Ralph Hansen, Fred Radcliffe, Lillian Schipper, and Jodie Dixon; and refreshments, Jack Roberts, Roger Smith, Rosemary Phillips, and Barbara Gates.

Universe Staff To Rest On Thursday

Turkey, pumpkin pies and the well earned (?) rest so long awaited by BYU students will become a reality next week when classes recess from Nov. 23 to 27, for the Thanksgiving holiday. The Universe staff, too, will vacation. Only the Tuesday issue will be published next week.

COUGARS FACE HAWAII IN ISLANDS SATURDAY

by Dick Ricks

Hula girls, Waikiki beach, and Diamond Head are now realities instead of pipe dreams to 28 Cougar football players who arrived in Honolulu by air Tuesday morning.

The purpose of this enchanting visit to the Pacific's island paradise is not all pleasure. For, on Friday night, the Rainbows of the University of Hawaii engage the visiting Cougars in battle on the gridiron.

Even then, it sounds like heaven—and it is. But who's to deny the footballers and coaching staff this taste of heaven in return for the time and effort they have expended on behalf of the studentbody this year.

It was 19 years ago, in the year 1931 to be exact, that the Cougars played their only previous game with the Rainbows, this game also in Hawaii. The studentbody broadcasted the pep rally direct to the footballers in the island. Yes, it was a big affair.

As it turned out, the fleet Hawaiians were too much for the Cats that year and set them home a badly beaten team.

So far this year, the Cougars have done quite well outside of their own conference, while Hawaii fared only so-so on their three-game, 21-day stay on the mainland. They dropped a 34-20 decision to Fresno State, tied Willamette, and beat an Idaho aggregation 43-14. The team is young and ambitious.

Their play on the mainland showed two terrific toughies on the line, Ed Ferreira, center and Wilfred Keola at tackle. Both play 60-minute ball.

Coach Tommy Kaulukukui has the boys primed to really show some class here. Every phase of football is played. It looks like the fast BYU backs against the Rainbow forward wall.

The Cats are expected to arrive back in Provo sometime Monday. The following players made the trip:

Ends: Tolbert, Burr, Cowser, and Hill; tackles, Bronson Mc-Whorter, Hancock, Madsen, Cleve, Dimick; guards: Smith, Paulson, Keshevan, Day, Hardesty; centers: Hill, Kimball, Criddle; quarterbacks: Denney, Mecham; halfbacks: Hamblin, Berry, Willett, Paxman, Oliverson; fullbacks: Ballif, Karpowitz and Benson.

For Preferred Man . . . Voting Booth To Open Next Week

Preferred Man voting will begin next Monday in the J. S. Lobby, according to Lillie Belle Peterson, Mesa, Ariz., chairman of the AWS sponsored Preference Ball.

This year the dance is set for December 2, and will feature a banquet preceding the dance honoring the ten top preferred men, AWS Officers, members of the committee, and special guests.

During the dance intermission, the Preferred Man will be crowned by Charlotte Cannon, AWS president.

Ballots for voting will be available in the J. S. Lobby everyday next week except during the Thanksgiving holiday. Each girl must have the addresses of her own preferred men to be used on the invitations.

Tickets for the dance go on sale Monday, November 20, at $1.25 per couple. Upperclassmen will be given their first preference as much as possible, the committee said.

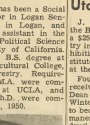

The Preference Ball is an annual affair which is sponsored by the Associated Women Students. This dance gives the girls an opportunity to choose their date for the evening or give their steady a good time. It is the only affair of its kind during the year.

Cal. Graduate Added To Faculty

The Political Science department has an outstanding new assistant professor this year. He is Dr. John T. Bernhard, of Los Angeles, Calif.

Dr. Bernhard has been a Social Science instructor in Logan Senior high school in Logan, and was a teaching assistant in the Department of Political Science at the University of California.

He received his B.S. degree at Utah State Agricultural College, in 1941, in forestry. Requirements for his M.A. were completed in 1948, at UCLA, and those for his Ph.D. were completed in August, 1950.

Dr. John T. Bernhard

Dr. Bernhard enlisted in the United States Coast Guard in 1942.

Dr. Bernhard is a member of the American Political Science Association, Pi Sigma Alpha, a political science honorary fraternity, Pi Gamma Mu, social science honorary fraternity, and he is president of the Graduate Students Association of UCLA.

Andrus Receives Art Prize In Utah Contest

J. Roman Andrus, professor in the BYU art department, received a $250 purchase prize for his entry in the first annual state exhibition of the Utah State Institute of Fine Arts now hanging at the State Capitol.

Four other former Y students received recognition at the show. Deno Fausett's painting, "Early Winter" was awarded $100 judges to become a part of the state permanent collection with Mr. Andrus' work. "Hades Hill," and was awarded a $250 prize.

Honorable mentions awarded in the professional artist class went to Wesley Burnett, Ralph Rossant, for a pastoral scene, and to Prof. Alvin Gittins, Salt Lake City, for "Self Portrait." In the Plastic Arts division, Elbert H. Porter shared top honors with his entry, "Child at Head," and was awarded a $50 prize.

POLL ANNOUNCES FREEDOM SCROLL RESULTS HERE

Brigham Young University students, 3,815 of them, affixed their signatures to Freedom Scrolls in the recent Crusade for Freedom drive, it was announced by Dr. Richard Poll, drive chairman. This amounted to approximately 75 per cent of the students, Dr. Poll announced.

Students also contributed $89.07 to support the drive for Radio Free Europe.

All signatures affixed on these scrolls from all over the United States were flown to Europe and will be placed in the Freedom Bell in Berlin, Germany.

Difference In Tastes

Editor, "Brigham Young Universe"

It was good to note in the November 9 issue that you are still on the defensive concerning the name of the paper It is easy to understand the need you feel to justify the name periodically The burden of being responsible for continuing to use it must be a great one, and it would elicit much sympathy were it necessary (Incidentally, the reasons, given by the unfortunate Mr Pace sound no better reprinted than they did the first time around)

Your stand, however, as is true also of the stand taken by the thousands who disagree (I myself have heard expressions of literally hundreds who do not like the present name), is not a matter primarily of reasons and arguments, but one primarily of taste To many of us the name has seemed from the first to be an almost unbelievable example of juvenile nomenclature, akin to the all-embracing titles given to leaders of certain secret societies, Grand Master of the World, Ruler of all Wisdom, Keeper of the Treasures of the Earth, and the like

To you, apparently, the admittedly "unique qualities of pronounciation connotation, and identification" are good, though you ought to be reminded that uniqueness is no guarantee of excellence, and therefore not an effective word to use in arguing excellence. But since taste is beyond dispute, there is no point in bombarding you with reasons for change We who shudder at the term "Universe" for a school paper are sorry for those of you who do not, but admit your right to your taste Occasionally, however, we would like to record the continuing existence of another standard, in the hope, perhaps, that some cub reporter who will someday be editor, will thereupon feel less need for continuing the attempts to justify a predecessor in an excess of young enthusiasm

Your recent speech to the faculty and the general excellence of the paper this year make doubly disappointing your defense of the unhappy move by what apparently was a lesser man May I nevertheless record my delight in the fact that the school paper does not deal largely with cosmic hurricanes, star explosions, and interplanetary travel, as one might be led to expect from the unique connotations of its title, but continues to report with reasonable effectiveness the News of the Y

Sincerely,
Thornton Booth

Webster's Collegiate dictionary gives three definitions for "universe." Mr. Booth chooses to recognize the third, i.e. "the entire celestial cosmos; the totality of the observed or postulated physical whole."

The unique connotation to which I referred was, again from Webster, "any distinct field or province of thought or reality conceived as forming a closed system or self-inclusive and independent organization." When the full title is used, (the "Brigham Young UNIVERSE,") it becomes correct and precise in its meaing—a province of thought and reality conceived of as an independent organization. Ouch! Ed.

'R.T. for P.M.'

Dear Editor:

Have you, too, noticed the glaring contradiction in campus politics? Enraptured males wander periodically through a literal forest of names, slogans, delineations and photographs of modest maids with distinctly royal possibilities Now, descend from the heights to contemplate the bleak, gloomy campus the week before elections for Preferrd Man!

Who will be "Mr. P.M." of 1950? We boys in D-3 will go a step in the right direction and supply confused coeds with concrete counsel. We don't have his picture, but he's walking around the campus as big as life. Just ask your room-mate to point out Ron Taylor.

Remember—"R.T. for P.M"

Dorm D-3

(A step in the right direction! At last male glamour leaders will be able to campaign for the most coveted title ever awarded to any Y man. Forward the cause of noble man! Ed.)

Oh, To Be A Freshman

Everyone in school wants to be a freshman again. And why not? They get choice seats at the football games while students who have gone to the University of Denver for two or three years have to get to the games about an hour early to get a seat on the 30-yard line.

The idea of seating the freshmen in a group is good. It gives them a feeling of unity and, on occasion, they have outcheered the upper classmen But we do not see why they should be given choice seats on the 50-yard line. This policy doesn't make sense.

Freshmen tradition states that if DU wins the Homecoming game the frosh won't have to wear their beanies anymore. So possibly the freshmen won't be seated in a group anymore.

Some other schools even go so far as to give out the best seats strictly on class level. The seniors are seated on the 50-yard line, the juniors on the 35, the sophomores on the 20 and the freshmen back of the goal line

We do not think seating should be on this basis. That is too much penalty for being an underclassman. But, by the same token, the best seats should not be handed to the freshmen on a silver platter.—From The Denver Clarion.

"Up—oh—here they come out on the field now—guess we've got about the most offensive team in the country."

Leader Formation

College students are the future leaders of the world How often has this statement been phrased? Advanced studies and the ability to work with people gained through extra-curicular activities are offered to the college student to make him a responsible citizen.

Editors of school papers throughout the country reported at the Associated Collegiate Press Convention that columns and editorials dealing with national and international events were not read by the students. College students seemingly are interested only in campus politics. The editors also complained that very few of the students read the columns because their background reading was nil.

If college students do not take interest in the world-shaking events of today, we cannot expect them to be intelligent citizens of the future. Education has extended itself into numerous modern fields for the purpose of giving students something solid with which to build a life.—From Cincinnati U. News Record.

More Work, Less Study

Newberg, Ore., (I.P.)—A major change in the college catalogue at George Fox College this year involves the relationship between the student's academic work and his outside work. If a student is doing outside work for fourteen or less hours per week, he will be allowed to take fifteen to seventeen hours of studies. Only twelve to fourteen hours of school work will be allowed those working above fourteen hours but not more than twenty.

While a student works above twenty hours but not more than thirty, he will be asked to take only ten to twelve semester hours Six to ten credit hours are all a student may take while working above thirty hours. The faculty may make a few exceptions to this where superior work has been demonstrated.

The Seven-minute Grace

It is interesting to note that the clock in the Smith auditorium is always set exactly seven minutes slow. Is this to justify the minds of the hundreds of late-comers to church meetings, or to comfort long-winded assembly speakers who persist to repeat "my time is just about up, but I want to just say. ." and proceed to say it?

Health Center Offers Free Innoculations

Are you safe from tetanus, typhoid and smallpox?

In case of irritation, these diseases are most likely to spread Therefore it is important for all students who have not had these inoculations to receive them as a public health measure, Dr Carlos N. Madsen, university physician announced

All immunizations recommended by the State Board of Health are offered Brigham Young students free of charge upon presentation of their student activity cards at the Health Service Center.

BOOKS, BOOKS, BOOKS. . .

A number of students at Mount Union College can now claim that they've seen almost every book in their school library. Students moved 65,000 books across their campus so that their new library wouldn't look bare the day it was dedicated. The volunteers formed a chain from the old library to the new building Librarians at each end directed the flow of volumes.

Our Hero ...

'Smiling Jack' Promoted After Korean Gallantry

by Bob Crockett

Smilin' Jack Jones is in the headlines again. Only last week the ex-BYU vice-prexy dominated the screamers in the Salt Lake Tribune. Then, the Tuesday UNIVERSE sparkled with a cut of the rough and tough "devil-dog" of the U. S. Marines.

This time word came from the AP syndicate that the Korean infantry hero has been promoted from captain in the Marines to major in art at New York University. To prove his limitless courage, the leatherneck will swim the Pacific ocean in record time to receive his presidential citations.

It is hoped by the BYU executive council that the balding hero will be able to appear in person on this campus before journeying to Washington to receive the purple shaft citation from the hands of the president.

A gala dance is being planned to welcome the "BYU boy made good" should the Marine captain be prevailed upon to visit the school. Banners of respect and admiration for "devil-dog" Jones, terror of the Communist regiem, will be constructed to mark the day, and classes will be dismissed for a huge rally to be dedicated to "one of the first heroes of the current Korean campaign who guided the famous "Lost Patrol" through enemy lines to safety."

The jubilant celebrant already aroused on the campus following the article printed in the UNIVERSE is marred only by a Communist inspired rumor to the effect that the ex-BYU vice-president is not the hero in question. In fact, the story gives have compiled proof that the BYU Jones is currently enrolled in art school on the East coast.

To thwart such un-American rumor, a conclusive sequence of proof can be shown. First, the Associated Press carried the story; Second, the Salt Lake Tribune carried the story; and the UNIVERSE carried the story. Perhaps the first two authorities can be doubted, but not the latter.

A hearty case might be built for the opposition however, for the name Jack Jones is fairly common. In fact, there is a Jack Jones enrolled now as a BYU freshman, and he, like the Korean marine, is from Payson. The fact that the 1949 vice-prexy is not from Payson at all, but calls, and has always called Pontiac, Ill., his home is not even worth considering.

Patriotic citizens must also disregard the rumor that 'Smiling Jack' is not named Jack at all, but carries the legal name of Leroy Kerr Jones.

Collection boxes are located in the UNIVERSE office and the bookstore in order to solicit funds to buy Captain Jones a BYU banner to carry into battle. Donations will be appreciated.

SCHOOL RING SALES DATE ANNOUNCED

A deposit of five dollars is required with each order, and the balance will be paid upon delivery of the ring. Orders will be taken from seniors only, it was revealed.

Homecoming 1950 proved quite successful despite the lopsided football game. Parade floats were better than ever with Brigs, Delta Phi, Campus Dorm, and Templars winning prizes. Chilly temperatures, which left marching units slightly numb, did not dampen the studentbody's enthusiasm as evidenced by the crowd at the Homecoming dance Saturday evening.

RaeJean Beck and Dale Wilcox, Joyce Maxfield and Dick Long, and LaDean Brown and Frank Wallace (U. of U.) were celebrating at the big event. Another U. of Utah man, Pete Johnson, was seen with Char Cannon. Couples such as Grant Brockbank and Ruth Ellen May, Barbara Hall and Ned Hoopes, Vince Reese and Dolores Crowther didn't seem to mind the crowded conditions prevailing at the two dance halls.

Pinning, an old Y custom, was certainly in vogue last week-end. Bud Nelson pinned Colleen Mower, John Jeppson pinned Char Matson, and John Tanner and Pat Thomas followed suit. Student president Elmo Turner lost his pin to Mardene Moulton.

Donna Mock became engaged to Galen Bagley, Saturday night.

Other duos who appeared at the dance were Don Milner and Reveau Sherratt, Kathy Latimer and James Anderson, Don Spencer and Barbara Watt, and Dorothy Noelte and Kent Brown.

Gail Hammond took Georgia Ann Whipple. Seems to be a steady habit with him. Byrdie Armbuster was there with Grant Thomas and Carolyn Cox went with Normand Gibbons. More people to show at the heel and hoe affair were Shirley Larsen and Ernest Edwards, Carole Contner and Joe George, and Charles Peterson and Charlene Gletz.

One of our well-known alumni returned for the week-end. Wayne Ferguson, last year's Blue Key secretary and president of LDS two years ago, was on hand for all the events and escorted Ione Roberts to the dance.

Chuck Tucker took Pat Glancy, John Nelson was there with Janyce Maxfield, Ed Baumbarden took LaDeen Van Orden, and Ellen Walker appeared with Ronald Green.

One more pinning: Lila McDonald to Ken Pace.

WOMEN'S INTRAMURAL

Women's intramural volley ball leagues are now active at Brigham Young University, according to Cynitha Cowan, instructor in physical education.

Three leagues have been formed and compete each Monday in the Women's gymnasium. The Independents play at 4 and 5p.m.; the Social Unit league at 7 p.m., and the Lambda Delta Sigma league at 9 p.m.

Approximately 40 teams make up the three leagues.

Tests Show Bad Ears For Students

Ten to twelve per cent of BYU students have defective hearing, and from 20-22 per cent have class B hearing, according to speech department officials. That is why every BYU student is given a hearing test by the Speech Correction department. When those who have defective hearing and/or speech are singled out they are invited to take advantage of the university's speech correction courses.

Each day from 1-4 p.m., as many as 80 pupils are given the pure tone hearing test and a brief articulation test by trained student clinicians under the supervision of Professor Alonzo J. Morley and Lorin Jex.

Student clinicians who are helping with the tests are Don Davidson, Richard Clark, LaPree Christenson, Melba Hale, Elaine Peterson, Jud Erickson, Duane Harrison, Joyce Karchner, Charmaine Matson and Mildred Berry.

The speech clinic also cooperates with the student health department in giving hearing tests to prospective missionaries and to Education department majors.

the trend of campus fashion

by Sue Eyring

With old man winter just about upon us, it's time to be thinking of warm coats to bundle up in. Carolyn Edwards and Sue Eyring, both from New York, have found a solution to the chilly problem, as can be seen by the picture. Carolyn has chosen a black broadcloth topcoat with good lines and great simplicity that is the trade mark of good taste. Her coat may be dressed up with the accessories she has on or may be worn to school with a pair of hand sewn loafers, that are the Eastern girl's pride and joy.

The new two-faced fleece reversible coat was chosen by Sue. One side is mustard fleece and the other is of minute checks of brown and the mustard color. Both of these coats are versatile and practical, in that they may be worn for more than one occasion. We all know of what value that may be.

I would like you to take note of the new shorter length of these coats. The New York fashions are taking on an entirely new trend, and the most noticale aspect of it is the shorter length. Adjacent with the shorter skirts is longer hair to offset that scarecrow look.

Included in the new trend is the straight look which may also be seen in the straight skirts and jersey blouses and stralght gabardine, tweed, and plaid suits that are the backbone of the Eastern girl's wardrobe. For that "special" occasion, the straight sheath dress is worn, which, if in wool or velvet, may be worn as a jumper, too.

The beauty of this new trend is in the versatility of the clothes, and the girls from New York have the advantages of being the first to see and adopt the new trend if they so desire.

LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL MEETS MONDAY

A meeting of the Legislative Council will be held in the Maeser Assembly Monday evening at 6:30 p.m., according to Elmo Turner, studentbody president.

A proposed constitutional amendment revising the Block Y point system and another to include AMS and AWS presidents in the Executive council will be discussed before being presented to the studentbody.

Carolyn Edwards and Sue Eyring don cozy overcoats for chilly weather displaying the important role the east coast coeds play in the local fashion picture.

VAL HYRIC

"Aloha" 'was the theme of the Val Hyric Homecoming alumni dinner held last Saturday evening. Highlight of the program were dances by Emmanell Vieira. Quentin Bates officiated at formal pledging preceding the dinner.

The Val Hyrics will join with the To Kalons for an exchange party tonight with Jack Bradbury in charge. Members will sing the Sweetheart song with Rod Mann conducting, at the reception of Hank Williams and Doremus Sumpter, Saturday evening.

Brickers Slate Annual Formal

The Bricker social unit will be hosts at the Hotel Utah Starllte Gardens, Saturday evening when they stage thetr annual formal dinner-dance, announced Leon Heaps, Salt Lake City, chairman.

Initiating the formal social season, Brickers and their guests will dance to Allen Frank and his combo, he continued. Assisting with plans are co-chairmen Gene Tuttle, Bob Zabriskie and Bill Nicholes, all of Provo.

ALPHA KAPPA PSI

Alpha Kappa Psi, professional business fraternity, pledged seven members Tuesday night at a banquet held at the China City Cafe. They were Fred Money, Reed Nelson, Marvin Butler, Phil Schmidt and Darcy Clawson. Robert J. Smith and Kimball Sorenson, faculty members, were also pledged.

Leland Black, revenue agent of the U. S. Bureau of Internal Revenue, addressed the meeting.

The members of the Executive Council went to the airport Monday evening to see the football team off for Hawaii.

Festival Decor Dance Feature

"Festlight" will be highlighted by unique decorations at the annual Invitational sponsored by the Viking social unit this Saturday, revealed Morris "Mopsy" Hainsworth, Portland, chairman.

The festive decor is being arranged by Francis Magleby, Portland. Vikings and guests will dance to the music of Jack Hansen and his orchestra in the Joseph Smith ballroom, the dance head continued.

Arranging other plans for the event are Joe Smith, Provo; Perron Christenson, Redlands, Calif.; Ernest Larson, Emery, and Bob Sipherd, Seattle, Wash.

Banyan Opens Sales Letter Contest

A free copy of the 1951 Banyan will be awarded to the winners of the annual Banyan sales letter contest, according to Keith Orme, business manager of the BYU yearbook.

A ten-day contest will begin tomorrow, November 17, and end Monday, November 27.

Students in the classes of Ethelyn Peterson Taylor, Myrra A. Williams and Russel N. Standfield will be required to enter the contest, but any student is eligible for the competition. All letters must be submitted to one of the three teachers by 5 p.m. on the deadline date.

Letters will be judged according to sales effectiveness, interest, and grammatical construction. Each of the three teachers will submit ten letters from the entries, and a final decision will be made by the publications committee, including Frank Haymore, Dr. Wayne B. Hales, Lars Crandall, Glenn Turner, Elmo Turner, Stan Hall, and Keith Orme.

The contest kicks off the Banyan sales campaign which begins December 4. All students must purchase their Banyans by the end of the sales drive, said Mr. Orme.

Completing final plans for the Campus Dorm autumn semi-formal, which will feature "Pale Moon" as the theme, are Elma Buttars and Elna Brown, dorm officers.

Autumn Formal Will Feature 'Pale Moon' Theme

"Pale Moon" will provide theme highlights at the annual Campus Dormitory semi-formal dance this Saturday evening.

The event will be held in the dormitory dining hall beginning at 9 p.m., with music by Wes Berry and his orchestra, revealed Elma Buttars, Weiton, Ida., president of the ball and general chairman of dance arrangements.

Approximately 200 girls and their dates will attend the affair, dance plans are Elna Brown, Paris, Ida., and Maralyn Walsh, Farmington, other dorm officers, and the following committee members, Norma Cottrell, Fresno, Calif., decorations; Barbara Billings, Brigham City, programs; Jeanine Braegger, Ogden, intermission program; and Verna Welsh, Henderson, Nev., refreshments.

BOOK WEEK

The University Elementary Training school is going all out to observe National Book week, November 12-18, under the direction of Mrs. Bertha Davidson.

A novel display of posters by her fourth grade reminds the students to read books. One prominent poster reads, "How did the Indians come to be? Don't ask me. Read the Book of Mormon and see!"

This morning the grammar school students presented an assembly in the College auditorium.

Cats Open Cage Season Against Regis on Springville Court

The first two games on the docket for BYU basketball fans are scheduled for next weekend, according to Eddie Kimball, director of athletics. The Cougars will take the floor for their first local appearance next Friday and Saturday against Regis College of Denver.

These pre-season games were added to the calendar after the budget for the year was made up, according to Al Choules, student-body business manager, and it will be necessary to make a charge of 50 cents each, with BYU activity cards.

The game will be played in the Springville high school gymnasium, scene of last year's court conquests, and 900 student tickets have been obtained for each night.

Tickets for the BYU-Regis games will go on sale Monday and Tuesday, from 1-5 p.m. in the studentbody office, located in the Student Supply building. Ducats will be sold on a first come, first served basis, with a limit of two tickets per person.

Students who attend the games must furnish their own transportation, Mr. Choules announced.

Skyline Slates Seven Games To Close Season

Only seven games remain before Skyline conference gridders can tuck in the loose ends and clap the lid on the 1950 football campaign.

No conference clashes are slated this week-end, as Brigham Young University braces its line in beautiful Hawaii, Utah State travels to Montana, and Colorado A & M levels off against Arizona State and "Whizzer" White. Utah, Wyoming, and Denver all get breathers to condition them for the pair of remaining conference games next week.

The Montana Grizzlies will probably make it rough for the Utags, but if the Farmers can concentrate some of their sporadic spurts of brilliance into one contest, they may upset the dope sheet.

Rams Face "Whizzer"

Colags and Tempe should tee off in a top battle. The Sun Devils have fared well against their Skyline foes on this side of the mountain. It remains to be seen if the more powerful Rams can break the forward rush of the Tempe backfield, sparked by America's third highest scorer, Wilford "Whizzer" White.

Turkey Day games hold more interest for Skyline fans, as Utah State and Utah, and Denver and Wyoming take the field to complete the regular conference slate.

Utah Title in Balance

About the only thing that hangs in the balance on the Redskin-Aggie tilt is the state of Utah championship. If the Utes win they will be tied with BYU. If they lose the Cougars can claim the title for themselves.

Practicality has taken the place of pipe dreams about any conference team upsetting the "Eastern" Cowboys. Just how far the Wyoming wallopers will beat Denver is the real point at issue. The Pioneers could, with a proper attitude and a good day, give the 'Pokes a run for their money.

Colorado A & M should be able to scrape up a victory over Colorado when they meet on Saturday, Nov. 25. This game will complete the Skyline schedule with the exception of the Utah vs. Hawaii game, slated for the island on December 16.

Val Hyric-I. F. To Clash For 'Mural Bunting

Val Hyric and Idaho Falls, a duo of smooth working teams from the Monday-Wednesday intramural football league, will tee off for the 1950 championship either Friday or Monday if weather permits.

The championship tilt was originally slated for Tuesday night, but a sudden snow storm forced a quick change in plans.

If the game cannot be played by Monday, the Val Hyrics will capture the crown by virtue of the fact that they knocked off Idaho 30-12 in regular play.

While the Hyrics hope for the worst in weather, Idaho Falls is wistfully wishing for a second stab at their rivals.

Finalists were determined when the second place teams in the two leagues played the champions in the opposite league.

Val Hyrics (6-0) crushed a crew of Knight Templars (6-1) 32-8 while Idaho Falls (6-1) battled to a slim 24-18 victory over the Hawaiians (7-0).

Twin Bill With Weber, Army Team Slated For Freshman Cage Opener

"Mighty oaks from little acorns grow," and the seeds for success of Brigham Young University's vaunted varsity basketball team are sown in the freshmen squads from whose ranks always emerge some Cougar stalwarts.

Coach Wayne Soffe, noted for his molding of powerful freshman teams from a usually better-than-average grade of materlal, has barely had time to ship out of his football uniform into a pair of gym shorts to take over his crew of twenty- some odd cage hopefuls.

A glance at the present roster gives assurance of some happy days to come on the Cougar court. Listed among the frosh candidates are John Taylor, Spanish Fork ace, Tom Karren, B Y high stalwart, Loyal Iverson of the American Fork 1950 state championship quint, and Sherman Crump, a Jordan hustler.

A pair of hoopsters from Monroe, Nell Christiansen and Stan Gleave, have been looking good in pre-season drills. Dean Larsen, a standout at Mesa, Ariz., should prove valuable to the squad.

More Promising Cagers

An additional list shows just as much promise. These are Jerry Minson, Morris Jackman, and Mickey Eggertsen of B Y high, Max Fillmore, Tom Collins, and Boyd Frampton of Provo high, Dick Cooper, Lehi; Dick Deen, Salem, Ore., Marlo Bowen, Murray; Oscar Larsen, Idaho Falls, Ida.; Lyle Espinosa, Sanford, Colo.; and Gordon Smith, Springville.

A trio of football players will also don the lighter suits for a go at the basket. These are Jack Hadley, Barstow, Calif.; Bob Harper, Blackfoot, Ida.; and Pat Pomeroy, Mesa, Ariz.

Anyone who isn't out for freshman basketball will get a chance to show his prowess in the frosh tourney which is underway this week and next. Some new men may be picked up from here.

Squad Will Be Cut To Ten

The freshman squad will eventually be cut to ten men, but it will take a while to do it, according to Coach Soffe.

Coaches Soffe and Stan Watts want to choose carefully, as every man is a potential star for the varsity, and the freshman year provides a chance for valuable training.

The Cougar Cubs have very little wait for action, as they are scheduled for a pair of preliminary tilts next week when BYU hosts Regis of Denver. On Friday, Nov. 24, they tangle with Weber College, and on Saturday night they have a date with Presidio Army team from San Francisco.

Both games are set for 6:15 p.m.

Ex-Cougar Gridders With Ft. Hood Team to Test Y Squad Next Week

It's back to BYU for a group of former Cougar football stars who had their collegiate gridiron career rudely interrupted by a summons from Uncle Sam, but this time they come as foes instead of friends.

Saturday, Nov. 25, has been set for the meeting of former teammates now stationed at Fort Hood, Tex., and the 1950 edition of the BYU football machine.

The game has been approved by Commissioner D. L. Rounsy of the Skyline conference, and the game will no info the books as a win or a loss for the Cats just as any other interscelonal game. The statistics will have to be sent to the NCAA bureau.

This really puts the pressure on the Cougars, and the game isn't going to be a push-over by any means.

The group of nine players, eight of whom would be playing either regular or semi-regular on the BYU team had they remained, has been greatly strengthened by football players from other parts of the country. The "army" will field a powerful and well-balanced team from the thirty-five man squad that is slated to arrive in Provo on Thanksgiving Day.

The Fort Hood team has literally crushed its opponents by other bases. Typical scores have been 86-0, 72-0, 54-0, etc. Only once have the boys been headed, that time by a strong air force team from Louisiana, 20-19.

Players from the Y that are listed on the Fort Hood roster are Cecil Lloyd and Verl Duerden, quarterbacks; Elmo Roundy and Dave Chadwick, halfbacks; Arnold Weidauer and Richard Doerr, ends; Karol Bills, David Lindstrom, and Tony Christopulos, guards; Don Moneur, center; and Don Latimer, tackle.

A three-fold purpose will be accomplished when the game is staged a week from Saturday. First, it will mean an added game for Cougar fans to see, second, it will be a welcome homecoming for the ex-Cats, and finally the proceeds will go to the new fieldhouse.

These appeals were pointed out by Paul Gehring, chairman of the Provo Chamber of Commerce recreation committee. The C of C have been working in conjunction with BYU in sponsoring and promoting the game.

Negotiations for the game were begun by Director of Athletics, Eddie Kimball, early in the season, but confirmation and final plans were not completed until about a week ago.

Inasmuch as the game is a fieldhouse benefit, there will be a charge of 50 cents for student tickets.

Dick Deen Annexes School Tennis Title

Dick Deen, Salem, Ore., stroked to an easy 6-3, 6-3 victory over John Meier, Glendale, Calif., to capture the 1950 all-school tennis tournament championship.

Deen, a freshman, battled his way through the tourney undefeated while Meier, a junior, tasted defeat earlier in the tournament which was run on a double elimination basis.

In the semi-finals Deen won from Dean Larsen by a forfeit and Meier battled Allan Gomez, Spanish Fork, 8-4, 6-3.

Track Meet Slated

Brigham Young University 1951 track hopefuls will hold an inter-squad track meet in the BYU stadium, Friday afternoon.

The meet will take the place of the annual cross country run that has been featured each fall at BYU.

Decisive Victories Mark Initial Frosh Cage Play

The Freshmen basketball tourney got under way Monday night in the Men's gym as the victors downed their opponents by decisive scores.

The Jackrabbits hopped on the Tigers in the opener with a resulting 54-26 score. In the second game of the evening, the Bulldog five tipped the Bruins 41-11 in a lop-sided tilt. Too much power on the part of the Bulldogs and lack of substitutions for the Bruins contributed to the tall-short score. The Vigilantes, too, in the last tangle, were clipped by a free-moving Comets quint, 64-43.

Other Frosh teams entered in the tournament are the Hoopsters, the Hotshots, the Hoohouse gang, and the D-3 Devils, all of whom are contenders for the championship and consolation games which will be played on Wednesday, Nov. 22. Games will also be played Friday and Monday nights.
